

Shampan's Tiffin Story

is inspired by the tiffin wallahs of Mumbai (also known as dabba wallahs), who have been delivering piping hot lunches from individual homes to busy office workers and locals in tiffin boxes every day for over a century.

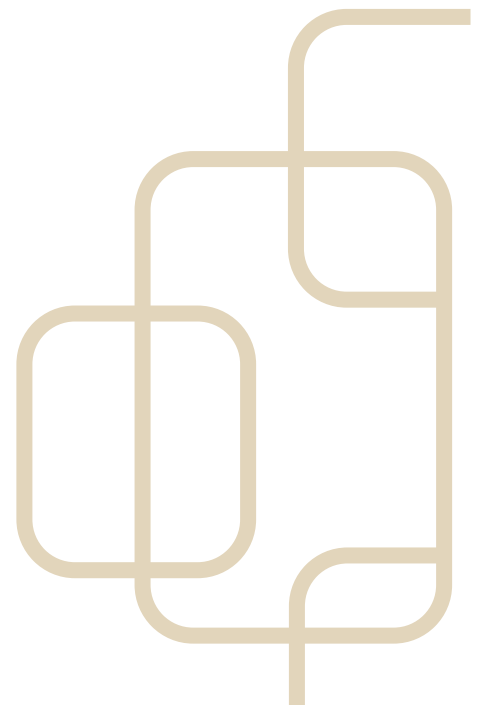

In this vibrant city, "tiffin" signifies not just a midday meal but a cherished tradition.

Lunches typically consist of three to four small tiffins (dabbas), each holding individual portions of delicious home-cooked food.

We have tailored a menu for you in homage to these tiffin wallahs, with offerings designed to be quick and light, served in modest portions, and perfect for sharing over conversations filled with joy and laughter.

The Harvard Business School have acknowledged the tiffin wallahs of Mumbai as a world-class system and supply chain, always striving for perfection

Inspired by their excellence, Shampan Tiffin Story offers a menu celebrating this tradition
